

How to be oriented in quality and no quality resources

Marta Zizienová
marta.zizienova@tul.cz

You must write an article

reasons
to make the results of your work available	54%
career growth	20%
to have funds for research	13%
to show how good I am	9%
to protect your work with a patent	4%
other reasons	5%

What you need to do

essential steps
to write an article to choose where and how to publish it submit article, go through peer review and the publication process

Journal requirements

The author would like

good journal reputation, impact factor, citation count hassle-free (fast) but quality peer review process

help with publishing

The reader would like

quality, up-to-date information

read comfort (full text freely available from anywhere)

You must select the topic of the article = aim and scope of the journal

just one journal

whether or not your article will be in open access selection through

Journal Citation Reports - thematic areas, impact factor

Web of Science / Scopus / ERIH PLUS - thematic areas, citation count

DOAJ (or QOAM or Paperity) - open access journals

If you know the publisher

journal finder

Elsevier® Journal Finder

Springer Journal Suggester

independent - not recommended

SJFinder

Edanz Journal Selector

Then you have to look up and study information and conditions for the authors on the journal website.

No quality or predatory journals unknown journal

unknown publisher, many fields, many journals editorial board - famous scientists without knowing about it short or non-existing peer-review (< 1 month) unclear license, I do not know what I can do with my article not in databases? (Web of Science, Scopus, ERIH PLUS) false impact factor <https://predatoryjournals.com/metrics/>

Podával jsem článek na konci roku 2015 a po rozsáhlém recenzním řízení a kompletního předělání článku byl minulý rok schválen k publikování s tím, že má přijít faktura teď v květnu a publikován má být v červenci. Bohužel jsem obdržel několik indicií, že se jedná o predátorský časopis resp. je zde podezření.

Prosím o radu jak dále postupovat. Objevuje se na Bealls listu jako "potential", ale nikde není zdůvodnění proč. Zároveň má označení jako Q2 a používá řadu nástrojů pro postižení plagiátortví (Crossref a iThenticate).

Rád bych uvedl výsledek do svého hodnocení jak pro habilitační práci, tak jako výstup pro sběr výsledku do RIV.

There is a suspicion of a predatory journal...

I ask how to proceed...

Check:

read few articles from the journal

homepage of the journal

ISSN <https://portal.issn.org/>

contact details of the publisher - address, e-mail, phone no.

<https://www.google.com/maps...>

peer-review type + info about indexing in databases

impact factor <https://jcr.clarivate.com/> editorial board members (verify famous scientists, all members)

name of the journal + predatory <https://www.google.com/>

Test an open access journal even more:

ISSN in ROAD road.issn.org

data in DOAJ doaj.org

Clear APC (article processing charge, how much, why, who, when, how to pay)
